

Bad Spells

"I suffered, during girlhood, from womanly weakness," writes Mrs. Mollie Navy, of Walnut, N. C. "At last, I was almost bed-ridden, and had to give up. We had three doctors. All the time, I was getting worse. I had bad spells, that lasted from 7 to 28 days. In one week, after I gave Cardui a trial, I could eat, sleep, and joke, as well as anybody. In 8 weeks, I was well. I had been an invalid for 5 weary years! Cardui relieved me, when everything else failed."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

If you are weak and ailing, think what it would mean, to you, to recover as quickly as Mrs. Navy did. For more than 50 years, this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women, has been used by thousands of weak and ailing sufferers. They found it of real value in relieving their aches and pains. Why suffer longer? A remedy that has relieved and helped so many, is ready, at the nearest drug store, for use, at once, by you. Try it, today.

JUDGE O'REAR AN ARTFUL DODGER.

President Taft said in a recent speech that while the Massachusetts election had to do with State issues it was absolutely necessary to discuss national questions. Judge O'Rear and his organs say that national questions have no concern for the voters of Kentucky, and that the only matter they have to settle is who to fill the State offices next November.

The President of the United States has more courage and more sincerity than Judge O'Rear. He at least stands for his convictions, and proclaims them not only in vetoes, but in public utterances. O'Rear is anxious for the people of Kentucky to forget all about the record of his party in national affairs, because he knows that he cannot win on such a platform, the election of a Democratic Congress, and the whole trend of all public thought showing conclusively that the country is turning to the Democratic party for relief from Republican incompetency, extravagance and oppression.

Try as he may, Judge O'Rear must discuss national questions in this campaign, because the result in November will determine whether Bradley shall succeed himself, or whether Ollie James, a true Democrat, will represent Kentucky in the Senate. If the voters of this State want to be represented in the Senate by a standpat Republican who endorses the policies of President Taft, who believes in a protective tariff, and whose record as a hungry seeker after patronage is a disgrace, they will vote for Judge O'Rear, and the election of a Republican Legislature.

The Democrats are going to win this fight, because the voters want a change not only in State, but in national affairs, and the turning out of Willson only presages the turning out of Taft next year. Judge O'Rear is an artful dodger, but he is seeking votes as a Republican, and he must bear the burden of his party in the State and Nation, whether he wants to or not.

Anna, Texas.

Editor News:

Here comes an old Russell county boy with a few words to the dear old home paper. I get The News regularly each week, and I sure enjoy perusing its columns. Every issue brings me news of people I know in the grand old home state. The more I read it, the more I love it. I could not do without it now. Let every issue come.

Texas is a dry old State this year. Water is a scarce article, and is in much demand. A few showers have fallen for the past few weeks, but they have all been so light that little good was derived from them. Corn was a complete failure this time, while oats, wheat and cotton are extremely light. I do not expect cotton will average more than one-fourth bale per acre. Some has been picked out and sold for 4¢ or 5 cents to the gins. With all crops almost a failure, Texas would be in a serious condition were not her sister states to lend her a helping hand, which of course will be cordially extended.

The little town of Anna, from which I am writing this article, is situated on the H. & T. C. R. R., 42 miles north of Dallas, in the center of the great black land belt of Texas. An Interurban line also connects it with Denison and Sherman on the North, and with Dallas and Ft. Worth on the South. Anna is about the size of Russell Springs, Ky., and is almost filled with Kentuckians mostly from Adair, Casey and Russell counties.

Say, Mr. Editor, I want you to jog up your Irvin's Store correspondent a little bit, and make him contribute more often. I always look to see if he is in the list the first thing when I open the paper, and am always disappointed when I don't see him.

Also raise up your Eli and Font Hill writers from the dead, and tell that Russell Springs "feller" to set the alarm every week so he can wake up and write a letter to the News. I think all of them are feeling awful sleepy these hot Summer days. Wake up boys! What is wrong with you? Get your old stub pen and your old ink bottle and scratch a few lines from your place tonight or now. Tell us how you and your neighbors are getting along. We old Kentuckians scattered all over the United States, want to hear from you. That's why we take the paper. Wake up before Editor Harris loses a dollar.

Wishing the News continued success, and with best wishes for the Editor and readers, I am,
Yours Truly,

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.
